FAMILY HISTORY OF LUCY CROCKER.

Gathered together by her descendant,
Mrs. Jeannette Robinson Murphy.

In the work entitled, "THE LIFE AND SAMUEL JONES TILDEN" By John Biglow, there is a supplement by the great statesman himself. Mr. Biglow uses the copious notes which Mr. Tilden had collected about his family history. These notes, together with his researches in England concerning the origin of the Tilden name, are printed just as he left them. In this portion of the work, Volume first, page 318, Mr. Tilden says:--

"A knowledge of one's descent from a line of virtuous and honourable and reputable ancestors, who performed worthily their part in their day and generation, and who enjoyed the esteem of their contemporaries, is an incentive to emulate their example.

That a heredity in mental and moral as well as in physical capabilities and qualities exists, at least as a tendency, has been recognized in all ages, though the laws by which it is governed have never been ascertained."

John Adams, the second President of the United States cared so much for his ancestry, that he erected to the memory of Henry Adams, the Pioneer, a Granite ^(monument) ~~monument~~ at Quincy, Massachusetts. His line of descent was Henry, ¹, Joseph ², Joseph ³, Deacon John ⁴, John ⁵, John ⁶, the 2nd President)

Upon this monument he placed this inscription:

"In memory of Henry Adams, who took his flight from the Dragon Persecution in Devonshire, England and alighted with eight sons near Mt. Wallaston. One

One of the sons returned to England , after taking time to explore the country, four removed to Medfield, and two to Chelmsford. One, only, Joseph, who lies at his left hand, remained here.

An original Proprietor in the township of Braintree, incorporated 1639.

This stone and several others have been placed in this ^{year} by a great, great grandson from a veneration of the piety, humility, sympathy, patience, temperance, frugality, industry, and perseverance of his ancestors, in hope of recommending an emulation of their virtues to his posterity."

It means much to have ~~had~~ the privilege of being descended from lines of God-fearing and God-serving ancestors-- from men and women who chose their mates wisely, looking both backward and forward-- men and women who took their life partners, with judgement and an ever-abiding respect for their honour, pure goodness and deep piety.

Those people who ~~care~~ nothing for their forebears are apt to ~~be~~ among those who choose their wives and husbands hurriedly and without wisdom.

(to-day)
In the general letting down of morals, [^] it would appear as if the number of those who care nothing for their ancestry or their posterity, is on the increase. It might rightfully be claimed ~~to-day~~ that we breed dogs as carefully as if they were human beings and we breed human beings as carelessly as if they were dogs !

Mr. Emerson, I think it was Mr. Emerson, said, "The man who cares nothing for his ancestry will not ever do anything of which his posterity may be proud."

In this Crocker family, there have been great numbers who were devout men and women, standing high in their communities and ^(there are some bearing the name to-day) who ~~occupy~~ occupy positions of trust and honor-- secured not by political pull and chicanery but by real honesty and worth and merit.

NOTES

A family tradition has it that THOMAS CROCKER, came to New London from Scituate, Massachusetts. He is mentioned in Letters Patent granted to Settlers in Connecticut in 1603. He is a Constable in 1694. He is spoken of by Dr. Baker in History of Montville, Conn.; By Mr. Joshua Hempstead in his famous Diary of New London; by Mr. R.R. Hinman by James Savage, Miss Frances S. Caulkins and others.

A Captain George Crocker of Norwich, states that he has heard that six Crocker brothers came from England to Massachusetts. Also he was told that a Mr. Denison once made an exhaustive research into the antecedents of the Crocker family. This record can not be found. The graves of Mr. Thomas Crocker and his wife Rachel Chappell have not been located.

In the record of the First Congregational Church of New London, there is this citation: "Mary and Thomas, children of Thomas and Rachel Crocker, are brought by Godwife Crocker for baptism, April 2, 1671. p.6.

In the History of the Crocker Family, left unfinished by Miss Frances E. Caulkins, there is a great deal of data about the Crockers. There are erasures and some of it is done in pencil, showing that Miss Caulkins ^{was} going to revise it. This record is in the possession of the Historical Society of New London and is not quoted here except in two or three instances, where credit is given to the noted historian.

NOTES CONTINUED

Miss Caulkins left many manuscripts, regarding the ancient families of Connecticut and Massachusetts. These records are also owned by the Historical Society of New London.

The above records of Marriages are found in the ancient Book of the "West Farms Society"--a Franklin Church formed in the year 1718. This priceless record is in the custody of Hon. George Beckwith, who lives on the old "Crocker Hill"--which was part of the old home place of Samuel Crocker. The spot where his house stood--the home he gave to his daughter Zerviah--is still pointed out--- the still standing--part way down the hill--and occupied, is a very ancient one and may be the very house built by Samuel Crocker and often mentioned by Dr. Ashbell Woodward in his history of Franklin and by Mr. Joshua Hempstead. The old deed gives the name of Hastings as the Grantor. In this marriage record (page 361) of the (1718) "West Farms Society" the minister officiating is Rev. Henry Willes, "Pastor of ye Second Church in Norwich". This is rather mystifying as the 1716 Church at West Farms is the first to split off from the parent Church in Norwich but perhaps as they came together, it was called the Second Church, the larger absorbing the smaller one.

The record of John Crocker's marriage may be in Lyme as his wife, Elizabeth Champion (Thomas, Henry) came from that village. The ancient records are in the custody of Hon. Mr. Marvin, the Probate Judge residing in what is called "Lyme-in-Hamburg, Connecticut."

NOTES ABOUT SAMUEL CROCKER

Smauel Crocker and wife, Hannah Wolcot (called Woolcot) move from Norwich to "West Farms"-now Franklin, Connecticut about the year 1700. He acquires considerable wealth and much land. His estate was called "Crocker Hill" ^(Mr) Joshua Hemstead often speaks of being entertained at the home of Samuel Crocker and Hannah Crocker.

Samuel Crocker was a Selectman in 1722. His grave and that of his wife may be in some remote corner of this large hill, or they may sleep in that first cemetery at Franklin, which is situated at the back of Mr. Holden's place. They may rest in the ancient "Plain" where hundreds of stones are no longer decipherable, and, as many more have sunk out of sight. By searching further, these graves may yet be discovered.

The inventory says "Samuel Crocker, Cate of Windsor!"

Samuel Crocker ~~was~~ a very highly respected man and quite important in his day and generation. In 1716, the West Farms "The Second Society" emerged from the parent church at Norwichtown. Samuel Crocker is often chosen to be Moderator of this New Society (Church) and he is appointed on many important committees and missions to the General Assembly. The priceless record of this little Church is to be found in the custody of Hon. Benjamin Davis--Town Clerk of Franklin, Connecticut

The records of the very first church of Norwichtown are kept in a vault down in the basement of a Bank in Norwich proper.

These ancient records show that Samuel Crocker and his wife Hannah were members of this church.

The records of the Franklin Church (1718--in charge of Hon. George Beekwith) show that Mrs. Samuel Crocker and some Miss Martha Wolcot unite with the new Church at Franklin upon Profession of Faith.

(Hannah's son John, names his oldest child SIMON, and the name Simon continues in the family, so it may be that Hannah Wolcot was the dau. of Simon Wolcot of Windsor, as several of his children have never been recorded at Windsor or at East Windsor. She and Martha may come from Savbrook, Connecticut.)

John Crocker's child, Mary, June 1, 1740- also on same page is mentioned as being christened same day--Richard Leech's child, Rhoda. ~~which goes to show, that John had two children named Mary.~~

However this christening refers to another John Crocker altogether- it is Mary the daughter of a New London John Crocker. ^(Mr.) Joshua Hempstead gets his information from page 37, of the 1st. NOTES ABOUT JOHN CROCKER.

John Crocker's will is at Willimantic Court House. In the custody of the Probate Judge, Otis Robinson. Windham County Records, Book of Wills Number 7, pp. 456--462. John Crocker lived at a place called "Village Hill", then a part of Lebanon "Town". He and his wife Elizabeth were probably buried at Liberty Hill or "Scoville Burying Ground", or at "Larks" or old Trumbull"--all of them part of Lebanon at that time. Their graves have not yet been located. John Crocker is admitted to the Franklin Church (1718) on a profession of faith in Christ, in the year 1727.

26 years ago, upon her own initiative, Mrs. Charles Abell of Lebanon, copied off every readable inscription from the stones in all of the ancient graveyards around Lebanon, including the remote "Columbia" and "Scoville"

Many of these letterings have now become wholly or partly obliterated by cruel time. Others may still be faintly seen, but are fast disappearing. Many stones in "Trumbull" yet plainly to be read, are not recorded in certain printed lists of this cemetery. These inscriptions may be purchased from the Town Clerk at Lebanon @ 50 ¢ each.

The Connecticut census of 1790 gives Simon Crocker as having under his roof-tree, 3 "males" 3 "females", no slaves.

Simon Crocker made a will 23rd Dec. 1797. This is recorded In Book 14, (at William's Conn.) pp. 247--50. He leaves money to each child, also pieces of furniture. ~~To~~ To Lucy Crocker the wife of Dan Sprague, he bequeaths a chest.

Polly Sprague (dau. of Lucy Crocker and Dan Sprague) m. Mr. Philo Gibbs. She brought her mother's handsomely carved Mahogany "Highboy" to her home in Homer, Michigan. At her death, years ago in Homer, it came into the possession of her daughter Lucy. At Lucy's death, this most beautiful "Highboy" was sold to strangers-although Lucy had given it, with a lovely "High-Posted" ancient Bedstead, to a descendant of Lucy (Crocker) Sprague. Efforts are now being made to trace the whereabouts of these two valued heirlooms.

An error concerning the first name of the wife of Simon Crocker, keeps cropping out at every turn. This false record states that Simon m. Elizabeth Richardson. He did not, but assuredly married her sister Esther. Here are Proofs. 1---2---&---3

(1) The wealthy Ebenezer Richardson and wife Elizabeth Kendrick, AND a list of all the births and marriages of their children, are given in the Ancient Lebanon Town Records. This record says that Elizabeth married Samuel Fuller and that Esther married Simon Crocker.

(However there is a line in an old record at Lebanon which says, as if (in a joking way, "Simon says he married Elizabeth" But under the long list of the children of Ebenezer and Elizabeth, the marriage of each child is given, after the birth date.

(2) Here is the copy of the tombstones--well preserved at "Trumbull" Burying Ground at Lebanon, with pictures of the stones.

In memory of Mr. Simon Crocker, who died January 1, 1799, in ye 70th year of his age.

In memory of Mrs. Esther wife of Simon Crocker who died Dec. 27, 1805, in the 78th year of her age.

The headstone of Mr. Simon Crocker was falling down. It has now been cemented afresh. The old brimstone had given out. Footstone is intact.

(3) As a further proof and an irrefragible one-- there stands the will of Ebenezer Richardson, which I discovered at Willimantic among the ancient "Windham County" Probate Records.

Will Book, 5, pp 342 and 328 & 171--2--years, 1755--1750

Probate Special Book 2, pp...66 & 132.--Years, 1744--;756

The will is drawn, March 4, 1756, before the daughter Esther marries Simon Crocker. Ebenezer mentions his wife Elizabeth, two sons--Ebenezer and Eleazer, and four daughters:

Sarah Bennett;

Elizabeth Fuller

Margaret Fuller and

Esther Richardson. "Esther is to have as much of my personal estate as to make her equal with what her three sisters have had of my estate--that are already married." The will is shown by the Relict, Mrs. Elizabeth and her sons, Ebenezer and Eleazer, and by Henchman Bennett and Sarah, his wife; Samuel Fuller and Elizabeth, his wife; Joshua Fuller and Margaret Fuller, his wife, etc"

Ebenezer and Eleazer receive land on Chestnut Hill (There is such a place by that name near to Lebanon, at this present time) on the west and the East side of the Hartford Road, respectively. Esther receives nine acres adjoining the lands of Eleazer, who apparently gets the lion's share of the estate. He receives houses and barns and orchard, etc.

Volume 5 (Wills) page 342 states that on the 10th of March, 1757, Samuel Fuller, the executor, received receipts in full from all of the heirs who thus declare that they have had their shares in full.

So this ends that oft repeated error (See the Lebanon records at Hartford about the wife of Simon Crocker being named Elizabeth Richardson. This old record should be rectified ~~in some way~~ at its source.)

The above Lebanon record, in custody of Hon. Charles Abell at Lebanon, gives the marriage of Ebenezer Richardson of Woburn as having taken place January 14, 1718. He died May 18, 1756. ~~Elizabeth, his wife d. May 18, 1756.~~ Their tombstones are well preserved at "Columbia" near Lebanon.

ANCIENT CHURCH AND TOWN RECORDS (ORIGINALS)

The ancient and original Records kept by the Church which first split off from the First Congregational Church at Norwich, Connecticut, is still in existence. The paper is yellow with age and fast going to pieces. This church was called "West Farms Society" and also titled, "Ye Second Society". The first paragraph ~~read thus~~ begin thus:

"Nov, ye first Day, 1716 Church Clerk---John Hyde (1st Meeting) etc Meeting of West Society of Norwich, April 25,--1720, Mr. David Hartshorn is chosen to be Moderator---voted by ye Society to prepare a petition to ye General Assembly in May Next----- all ye lands improved, lying within ye limits of ye Society--pd. Assessed in all Public charges to ye Society-----ye Society made choice of Mr. SAMUEL CROCKER to represent ye Society at ye General Assembly to manage their position."

Meetings were held every week or so regularly. At a meeting held November 9th 1741, by a vote of said Society--Joseph Dounen, Jun^r, Mr. John Crocker, Mr. Joseph Bingham and Mr. Abner Hyde, were chosen a Committee to take care of a School in and for said Society for ye year Insuing."

In many of these meetings, MR. SAMUEL CROCKER holds a most important position on Committees, etc, and is often chosen to be the Moderator of the Meeting .

This whole book is a mine of information for New England Histori~~ans~~^{ians}. It should be treated to the wonderful Emory Process at Taunton, Mass., and copied at the same time and the copies placed in many libraries . The original is now in the hands of the Town Clerk of Franklin, Hon. Benjamin Davis, Franklin, Connecticut.

Since the church formed in Franklin in the year 1718 united with this one, formed in 1716, it is singular that the 1716 church continues to hold its separate meetings for so many years afterwards.

Ancient Records

"Second Church in Franklin,-----Meeting was organized, January 4, 1718, by the Adoption of the First Confession of the Articles of Faith, which Confession was signed by :

Rev. Henry Welles; Dan Hartshorn; Nath Budd; Joseph Kingsley;
Thomas Hazen; Samuel Edgerton; Samuel Ladd; & Joseph King, Jun^r

The Church (1716) which first split off from the First Congregational Church in Norwich, Connecticut, after so long petitioning in vain to be turned loose from the parent stem, afterwards unites with this 1718 Church. The Minutes of this "SECOND CHURCH IN FRANKLIN", state that it is known that this First Society formed in Franklin, had existed at least a year--"For from their records, we learn that they held a Meeting--probably the first--- November 1, 1716."

The first meetings of this 1718 Church were held in a barn which belonged to Mr. Benjamin Peck. In the year 1721, the Church agreed to buy one quarter ($\frac{1}{4}$) of an acre of ground from Mr. Benj. Peck, for a Burial Place.

(This Burial place, was up on a hill and is to be seen at this date, on the land belonging to Mr. Holden of Franklin.)

This record, though showing the effects of age, is still quite readable -----

In an unpublished mss. written by the late Miss Frances E. Caulkins (owned by the Historical Society of New London, Connecticut) there are many quotations taken from Town Records of New London, BOOK 4. This book is not to be found at the present time. These records from Book 4 are not available either, except as preserved by her. She speaks of certain birth records which do not exist in the Town Records, but mentions getting them from family sources. These same birth records are found in the original volumes- yellow with age-- in Books 1, 2 & 3, in New London. Book 4 was no doubt burned up at the time when the traitor Benedict Arnold sat his horse in the old graveyard called "Ye Ancientest Burial Place", and watched the town of New London burn- Books 1, 2 & 3 must have been hidden somewhere at the time she penned these lines. Perhaps some day Book 4 may come from its hiding place and be better preserved than its mates, 1, 2 & 3.

In the Manuscript, left by Miss Frances E. Caulkins, light is thrown upon the parentage of many of the ~~unknown~~ people whose names have been copied from Books of reference.

Her various Manuscripts, concerning distinguished families in Connecticut, as well as her inscriptions from the ancient stones in Connecticut graveyards, which she was so laboriously compiling at the time of her death, are a mine of wealth to the earnest historian. A few thousand dollars of the wealth, which God has given some men the power to get (Deut. VIII: 18) would print all of these unfinished, but priceless Manuscripts. At the same time, the money so used, would mean the most appropriate and most lasting monument, which could be erected to the memory of this Truly great child of Connecticut--to whom, as yet, alas! there stands no fitting tribute of any kind!

These writings were donated, by relatives of Miss Caulkins, to the New London Historical Society.

Large, firm stone This is a very handsome stone

Many stones in this deserted place are buried and some half buried. The ground for the larger part of this "Spithead" or Mullen Hill" Cemetery was generously donated by Elder Nathan Howard. In 1786, the yard was enlarged by an additional purchase of land from his eldest son, Daniel Howard. The title was then vested in "John Beckwith, Lemuel ~~Amos~~ Darrow, Constant Crocker, and the rest of the members of the Baptist Church and Society in New London" New London Land Records.

This cemetery seems hopelessly given up to eternal desolation. The weeds are very tall, the undergrowth quite dense, the briars and Poison Ivy cling fast to countless stones, so that any attempt to cover all the ground and decipher even one tenth of the stones is a Herculean task. Unless something is done and done speedily, a great many stones will be forever gone beyond recall-save by the recording angel.

A young lady living nearby the place, is an historian and deeply interested in this and the other adjacent graveyards. She would be most happy to cooperate with any descendants of those who sleep there, all forgotten. Her address is Miss Martha Howard Smith, Waterford, Conn.

There is one lot which is kept up sacredly- this is the Gardner lot. Some one, there is, who never forgets!

"Death leaves a melancholy gloom,
It makes an empty seat,
Ye living mortals must come and join,

His headstone was falling down, it is now cemented afresh-the old brimstone had disintegrated.
Doubtless, the rest of this faded inscription could be secured from
The Town Clerk at Lebanon.

These waiting places are so forlorn and desolate.

 Mrs. Mary Dorrance also is cited in his will.
 She is a daughter of Simon Crocker of Lebanon.

At the right of the entrance gate are these two stones:

Beside her is the small stone of her little baby boy.
 A tall slab lies buried at one side of her mound. This is probably the stone which marks the long waiting place of her husband, Gershom Dorrance.
 She was always called "Molly".

The parents of Mrs. Simon Crocker, sleep in this old cemetery. They are Mr. and Mrs. Ebenezer Richardson. They have well preserved stones.

It would not cost a great deal of money to restore this place.

BESIDE THE GRAVE OF LITTLE ASA CROCKER

In the "Parker Burying Ground", Bozrah, Connecticut,
Memorial Day, 1924.
He died 1780, aged 4 years

Dear, little lad, your mother stood,
And wept for you, and so, I would
Lay flowers now upon your stone,
And for this long neglect atone.

Your far-off-cousin weeps to-day,
She knows if wealth but came her way,
That she would give her tender care,
To graves forgotten everywhere!

The grass keeps vigil, all forlorn
And sheds her tears each dawning morn;
Her face to-day, with dew is wet,
In memory of you, my pet.

The wild-flower blooms and bows its head,
In reverence above the dead-
You little bird, in sympathy,
Still chants your mother's lullaby.

Your tiny mound is raised still,
I hope your stone will last, until-
Our Saviour comes to raise the dead,
For He will come, the angel said.

And till He comes, 'tis sweet to know,
That kindly nature here below,
Does not forget to shed her tears,
Though man forgets these many years !

NOTE. It is a matter of record that Capt. John Crocker, m. Miss Elizabeth Holt, the daughter of William Holt, on Nov. 24, 1765. Miss Caulkins states in her unpublished Mss. that it was William Holt, second, whose daughter married Capt. John Crocker.

Was he the son of William, son of Lieut Wm., son of 1st. Thomas ?

Many stones in this well-cared for cemetery, are broken and lying down. Many are half buried, others entirely so. Hasten the day when some bright Edison, will invent a sort of X ray machine, which will be rolled over these old cemeteries and reveal the lettering on all of the sunken tombstones !

In her description of this particular cemetery- (and she has left wonderful records of the inscriptions in many in Connecticut-not yet given to the world) she mentions the fact that she can barely make out the lettering on the stone of Mrs. Lucy (Winthrop) Palmes. It has now disappeared forever and one can only conjecture as to the location of her grave, by the description of the graves adjoining, which Miss Caulkins has left. She had copied the stone of the second Mrs. Palmes- Madame Sarah, who she states is sleeping at Saybrook, Ct.

CROCKER GRAVE-----STONERANCIENT CEMETERY AT OLD NORWICHTOWN, Continued.NOTES

In this ancient city of the dead, one meets the names, at every turn, of famous Puritans and Pilgrims. Under the ground, are names which made this country; above the ground, many of these old names are now nowhere to be found- the names have oftentimes died out in the "mole line". This holds true in many a Connecticut and Massachusetts town to-day.

Here in this ancient place sleep the little innocent children of the traitor, Benedict Arnold.

Near one of the entrances, there is a sight which holds the rapt attention of every visitor. In a semi-circle there sleep the bodies of about fifteen or more French soldiers, who gave their lives to the cause of American freedom. ^{At} ~~Above~~ each grave, there waves continuously a French flag !

Perhaps they came in the same ship with General de la Fayette, ~~when~~ when he brought to our aid about 33,000 soldiers and sailors ^(of the Frenchmen) !.

There is a large volume, containing the names and the ^{which} ~~ages~~ and the Province in France, from ^{which} they came, entitled "Les Combatants Francaises De La Guerre Amerique de la Revolution". This huge tome was presented by France to the "Sons of the American Revolution", many years ago. It is indexed by order of Congress. If one counts down the columns, the reader is startled, beyond measure, by the great number of names of those who came to our aid !

However they got across the ocean, they came, they fought, they died: And old Norwichtown lovingly keeps their memory green !

It is fortunate that a complete record of the stones in this cemetery has been compiled, though it is not yet made available to reading public. It is said there is somewhere a record of the old cemetery which lies in the heart of the town --Norwich proper.

Very often in these ancient cemeteries, the only marking which was given to the grave, was the two initials of the deceased, cut deep into the footstone. By scraping off the moss and Poison Ivy and the dirt of centuries, one can often discover initials, which otherwise would never ~~be recognized~~ be recognized. Over in Groton, Connecticut James Morgan's grave is marked by a boulder on the side of which are cut two large Initials---J.M.

"C E D A R G R O V E " At New London, Connecticut

This beautifully cared for Cemetery, is called a Modern one, but there are many old graves there. Near the entrance there stand several rows of ancient stones, which have been removed from some other part of the city together with the bodies belonging to them. These old stones are placed side by side. There is a list of every person who was thus removed -- This is a mighty good thing, for many of the stones are ~~fast~~ falling to pieces-the fronts of the old slates and the old Red Sand stones are going fast. There is ^{one} ~~one~~, which might still be saved and restored by cutting deeper- It will soon be too late however.

This is the stone erected to the memory of Samuel Seabury, Jun^r, the son of the Bishop who sleeps in the side yard of the Episcopal Church, in New London. When these stones are gone, how then can the casual visitor know Who is Who in the graveyard? The visitor can not provide himself with a printed list of the past worthies and "Mighties"! In this cemetery, there are scores by the name of Crocker, but they could not easily be found. In this place is ~~along~~ slab over the remains of ~~Mr.~~ Mr. Joshua Hempstead. There is no printed list available, as yet, to the public, of the thousands of dead at Cedar Grove.
